THE NEW JERSEY INSTITUTE FOR CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION
CELEBRATING OVER 40 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE BENCH AND BAR

The New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education (ICLE) was created in 1962 to help lawyers and judges increase their general professional competence, keep abreast of developments in the law, and become more proficient in selected areas of practice. Since 1962, ICLE has served the educational needs of the New Jersey bench and bar and continually strives to respond to their many and varied concerns.

A non-profit, completely self-supporting organization, ICLE is a joint venture of the New Jersey State Bar Association, Rutgers – The State University of New Jersey, and Seton Hall University. Representing a merger of the practicing bar and the academic community, the Institute is governed by an autonomous Board of Trustees, which includes representatives of the State Bar Association, deans of the law schools and officers of the participating universities.

The Institute administers the Skills Training Course on behalf of the New Jersey Supreme Court, presents more than 250 seminars each year throughout the State, offers CDs of seminars, markets software programs especially designed for practicing attorneys, and publishes comprehensive practice manuals and lecture handbooks. Its programs and publications must be financially self-supporting since ICLE is not subsidized in any way. The professional staff of attorneys and administrators, aided by a dedicated support staff, is headquartered at the New Jersey Law Center in New Brunswick, along with the State Bar Association, the State Bar Foundation and IOLTA.

The ingredients which contribute most to the stature of the Institute are the talent, time and effort expended by the very best of New Jersey attorneys, representing every field of specialization and every type of practice. The voluntary participation of practicing lawyers and judges as lecturers, authors, and advisors is appreciated and encouraged, for without their assistance, high quality continuing legal education would not be possible.

The Institute welcomes this opportunity to serve you.

Foreword

For more than 45 years, the New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education (NJICLE) has been serving the continuing legal education needs of the New Jersey bench and bar. Our seminars, publications, audio/videotapes, and other educational materials are designed to facilitate the practice of law and to enable judges and lawyers to more effectively exercise their responsibilities.

Thanks to the efforts of our speakers and authors, ICLE is recognized as one of the leading providers of continuing legal education in North America. Our success in developing one of the most comprehensive, least costly collections of educational resources would not be possible without the judges and lawyers who voluntarily participate in our programs and publications. ICLE is the conduit through which they share their knowledge, skills, and expertise with their fellow professionals.

New Jersey Domestic Violence Practice & Procedure was conceived and developed by the Honorable Angelo J. DiCamillo, J.S.C., who recognized the need for a basic guidebook after receiving numerous requests from the legal and lay communities to speak about the issue. He was aided in the project by Professor Ruth Anne Robbins, Esq., and Michael M. Abatamarco, Esq. Without their commitments to continuing legal education and, in particular, to this important area of the law, this third edition would not be possible. ICLE is extremely grateful for their efforts and perseverance.

A publication such as this would also not be possible without a dedicated publishing staff. It is, therefore, fitting to acknowledge the efforts of Michael Weisberg, Esq., ICLE's Director of Publications. Donna Chamberlain, the Publications Administrator, and Dudley Engram, also of ICLE's staff, assure that orders are processed quickly and courteously. They assured that this book was published promptly, accurately, and efficiently.

Your satisfaction with the Institute and the CLE services we provide is very important to us. So that we may continue to provide the very best in educational materials, ICLE welcomes any comments or suggestions you may have about this book.

Lawrence M. Maron, Esq.

Executive Director,
New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education

About the Authors

Honorable Angelo J. DiCamillo, J.S.C., is a 1975 graduate of Rutgers School of Law – Camden. He was admitted to practice law in New Jersey in 1976 and New York in 1989. Judge DiCamillo was first appointed a Municipal Court Judge in 1979, serving 10 municipalities in Camden County in this part-time position. In 1985 he was certified by the New Jersey Supreme Court as a Certified Civil Trial Attorney. On July 23, 1993 he received an appointment to the Tax Court and was assigned to the Superior Court of New Jersey, Civil Division. On September 1, 1994, Judge DiCamillo was assigned to the Family Part, where he has remained since that date. As a trial judge he authored several published opinions, including three on the subject of domestic violence. He has also published three ICLE publications, including New Jersey Domestic Violence Practice & Procedure, as well as the former ICLE practice manual. While on the bench he has lectured on domestic violence for ICLE as well as taught to judges in New Jersey at the annual judicial college.

Ruth Anne Robbins, Esq., is a Clinical Professor of Law at Rutgers School of Law – Camden. Professor Robbins holds a joint appointment in both the legal writing and clinical programs at Rutgers – Camden. The law school supports both a domestic violence clinical course, in which 3L students appear as attorneys in restraining order hearings, and a pro bono project providing legal information about New Jersey domestic violence law and procedures. In addition to New Jersey Domestic Violence Practice & Procedure, Professor Robbins also writes about persuasion in lawyering using techniques such as story and graphic design and has presented, both nationally and internationally.

Michael M. Abatemarco, Esq., is an Assistant Prosecutor in the Trial Section in Ocean County. Mr. Abatemarco has served as an Assistant Prosecutor since 2005, where he has handled numerous domestic violence cases and trials. In addition to working as an Assistant Prosecutor, Mr. Abatemarco serves as an instructor for the Ocean County Law Enforcement Advanced Detective School and for the Ocean County Police Academy. Prior to focusing on a career as a prosecutor, Mr. Abatemarco practiced as a civil attorney for five years, where he handled numerous pro bono domestic violence cases.
